I had the pleasure of working with Nikita while leading a consulting club at INSEAD. His guidance in interview preparation was invaluable - the best starting point I could find. With his coaching and my determination, I secured a job offer in a fiercely competitive location during a challenging year. If you're seeking consulting interview prep, I highly recommend Nikita. He can make a difference.

Nikita is a highly qualified expert in consulting preparation both for BIG-3 and tier-2 companies. He provides extended materials for each type of cases in order to develop specific skills which will make your fit and cases really outstanding! His approach helped me to get the best offer in two months of case lessons.

I highly recommend Nikita as a coach for several reasons:

- a very tailored approach (only relevant techniques, many company-specific cases)
- a very structured approach to the whole process (clarifying questions, structure, recommendation) and not just "solving" the problem
- very detailed and honest feedback (that you would probably not get from your peers)
- totally worth the investment

I would definitely recommend Nikita as great case interview coach for next reasons:

1. Different and interesting cases and flexible frameworks
2. Structured learning approach with high standards
3. Ability to notice main weaknesses and develop steps how to improve performance in a pretty consistent way
4. Nikita helped me to improve both fit and case interview parts and he also provided further advice for career opportunities after completing lessons

I took classes with Nikita and would definitely recommend him as a coach for three reasons:

1. Thoroughness: Nikita tracks and notices every aspect which could be done better, and provides you with detailed recommendations how to improve performance. From hard skills (such as structuring, problem-solving) to soft ones (such as tone of voice, tongue slips);
2. Holistic approach: Nikita knows how to nail down both fit and case interview parts. That helps him build focused and effective preparation strategies for his students;
3. Motivation: Nikita has high standards and challenges you to hit them, but he stays supportive at the same time.

I took coaching classes with Nikita as a first step of my preparation for one of the Big3 Management consultancies. Case structuring and problem solving skills that I developed while working with Nikita helped me landing an offer of employment as a Project Leader with BCG.
Nikita is very driven and sets high standards while staying positive and human at the same time.
I do believe him to be a great asset to anyone who starts their journeys to top consulting firms.

I took a case coaching class with Nikita, when I was preparing for interview rounds of BIG3 company and one industrial consulting company. Nikita's coaching helped me a lot to pick up case solving skill including structuring, case solving approaches, calculating hints, etc. and as a result I received two offers of both companies I was applying to. I would definitely recommend Nikita as a coach and real professional.

Nikita helped me to get back into management consulting. After only 6 classes with Nikita I was able to pass 3 case interviews and land a Senior Associate position at the company of my dream - Partners in Performance. Nikita helped me to enhance case structuring skills and explore mining industry specifics.

I hired Nikita on my first steps towards consulting preparation. In the upshot, I successfully landed 3 offers in Tier2 & B4 companies. I'd recommend Nikita as a case coach to candidates seeking for opportunities in management consulting for three reasons:

- 1) Nikita applies well-structured agile approach sharpened by years of coaching that allows candidate to develop such skills as structuring, analysis, synthesis, fast math etc. in short time. He has a solid bank of various cases from different consulting firms enabling candidate to get a focused preparation depending on the firm he/she applies to.
- 2) Nikita has a wide network of consultants working in different firms and always aware of most recent changes in application process. Apart from it, it makes it possible to get a referral and skip some useless steps such as CV screening.
- 3) Nikita is always pleasant to communicate with, you always feel comfortable.

If you are a busy man as I was, having little case experience, however striving to get to management consulting, hiring Nikita as a case coach would be a great time saver and best value for money

Nikita's coaching helped me to significantly improve my case interview skills which resulted in me getting an MBB offer for a post-MBA position. Nikita has excellent understanding of what is required to get into top-tier companies and focuses on defining the gap with clear actions to fix it. He is also very responsible, practical and detail-oriented - qualities that make him stand out

Our sessions were very smooth and his assistance definitely made a huge impact on my success - I would like to recommend Nikita to others as well

Nikita helped me get prepared for interview process in a very short period of time. He works in a structured and consistent way guiding you through every step while you tackle a case and giving broad feedback. He is pushing enough to get you to your goal shortly. As a result I've succeeded and got a desirable offer

Nikita was a great coach to work with. He helped me a lot to get started with the case interview process, taught key concepts, structuring and synthesis skills. The lessons were well structured and the entire course prepared me well for the interview process. Nikita is also an easy going and flexible coach, which makes preparation process comfortable. I can highly recommend him if you are looking for help in case interview preparation.

Thank you, Nikita!
